The information regarding course offerings includes suggestions on how to progress through a possible major beginning with the first semester. Please understand that majors and course offerings can be dynamic due to curriculum changes and other variances. Although this information attempts to provide a sample plan of study, please review the information found within the General Catalog and visit with your academic advisor to discuss current offerings.

RELIGION

Take REL 111 and REL 112 in that order in year one or two.

Plan to complete REL 111, 112, 102, and 120 during the first four or five semesters.

Take REL 250 in year two, preferably after REL 102.

A Religion major works well with almost any other major. Students have combined the Religion major with other majors such as Biology, History, Communications, Psychology, Music, or English as examples.

Some electives, like REL 280 and 281 (New Testament Greek) are offered on a three-year cycle. Often students do not declare a Religion major until the second year.

Consider Interdisciplinary Studies 251 (Call of Service) or REL 250 (Meaning of Ministry) during a May Term session for a course that counts toward the major. International travel courses during May Term also fit well into the plan of study.
