How do we help your student unlock their professional potential? Through personalized appointments, assessments, and tailored support, Career Development is committed to helping students explore opportunities, polish their professional skills, and make valuable connections. We host large and small-scale employer events and connect with students in the classroom to ensure no one misses out. Plus, we offer two exclusive courses for academic credit: COOP 119: Career Observation and COOP 219: Internship Prep. Career Observation, held during the May term, allows students to explore their strengths, discover career options, and shadow professionals. Internship Prep equips students with everything needed to land their dream internships-perfecting resumes, enhancing networking skills, acing interviews, and optimizing LinkedIn profiles. Students at Simpson College also have the chance to earn academic credit for internships. The National Association of Colleges and Employers (NACE) reports that students who utilize career services are 2.2 times more likely to secure a paid internship—and those internships correlate to more job offers after graduation!
