

INCLEMENT WEATHER INFORMATION

During inclement weather and with slippery conditions on streets, faculty members are encouraged to be sensitive to the needs of our students with physical disabilities and be aware they may have difficulty navigating across campus. This means they may need to miss or be late to class or work.

If bad weather occurs, faculty are asked to take into consideration the students who commute to campus. It might be the case that individual students choose not to drive to school or leave class early. Please be flexible with regard to rescheduling tests, posting lecture notes online, making up assignments, etc. Faculty should carefully consider road conditions before coming to campus. If you decide not to come to campus, please contact someone on campus to post a note on your office door and in your classrooms. Please also let your department chair and the Office of Academic Affairs know (961-1720).

In the event the College decides to delay or cancel classes, faculty, staff and students will be notified through the Safe System, which includes messages via home, office and cell telephones, email, and texts. Notice will also be posted on all television stations.
